Matthew called me after I was unresponsive to his morning emails. He said it was fine for me to get back to him tomorrow. He confirmed he's not interested in the ISAB, but a separate story and simply doing his investigating and connecting all his dots.

Understand the suitability review is to occur this afternoon. Any update from your end on guidance/response?

This is a detail we'd like to sew up fairly soon...If you can even get me some background today, that would help. Right now, the only thing put out on him is that he is CEO of a Chicago trading firm, which doesn't exactly explain how he fits into a board of renowned experts on military, diplomatic, and political matters. But I assume there's lots about him I don't know.

Crashing this morning. What's the timing for your piece? Not knowing much on it when you called, but now after focusing on it a little – I will need time to work it.

Hi Jamie,

Just wanted to see if you had any success grabbing some background or a CV on Raj Fernando?

Many thanks,
